Milford Granite is as rare as they come. It is a heavenly pink color with tones of blush pink and silver, but what makes this stone truly one of a kind is its peppery flecks of mica that cover the entirety of the stone. This stone is perfect for projects that need to preserve and add historical value. The Milford granite was discovered in the 1870s and prized for its soft pink color and uniformed black spots. A piece of Milford granite is a piece of Milford's history.
